One Man's Family

Last Antwerp Defenses Melt

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—British and Canadian forces, striving to clear the approaches to the port of Antwerp, have hurled stubborn German defense troops out of all but the northern outskirts of Vlissingen (Flushing) on Walcheren island.

HOLLAND—British and Canadian troops were fighting on Walcheren island today in a battle to clear the mouth of the Scheldt after erasing an enemy pocket on the south bank. Farther east, British held a grip on the south bank of the Maas near Geertruidenberg. Broken arrow shows Scheldt river entrance to Antwerp. Broken line is Germans' Rotterdam-Arnhem defense line.

British Commandos and amphibious forces have expanded their beachhead to the northeast, by-passing the village of Domburg and seizing an enemy coastal battery emplaced in the dunes beyond.

South of the Schelde estuary a stubborn knot of enemy defiance was all but erased. The German general commanding in that pocket and 2500 of his men have been captured.

Only about 100 SS troops remained in Ft. Knocke. The Nazi 64th Division is counted as destroyed.

Flame-throwing Churchill tanks were dealing with the remaining knots.

The Canadian attack across the 1000-yard long causeway from South Beveland pulled back yesterday out of ruinous Nazi crossfire, but overnight the Canadians drove back and this morning once again held a small and fiercely-contested bridgehead.

In South Central Holland enemy rear guards were fighting off Allied attacks on the escape bridges. Resistance was savage on the approaches to the Moerdijk bridge over the Hollandsch Diep.

In eastern Holland, where the enemy last week struck out with a heavy attack west of Venlo in an unsuccessful attempt to relieve pressure against the crumbling front and above Antwerp, the British counterattack rolled up fresh gains.

In southern sectors of the long Allied front, local gains were made in the American sectors, including the capture of Letricourt and Abaucourt, northeast of Nancy, and 26 miles southeast of Metz.

Nazis to Use Robot Bombs On U. S., British Writer Told

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Walter Farr, Daily Mail correspondent, said today in a Stockholm dispatch he had been informed the Germans soon could "certainly" launch rockets against the United States.

Farr said he was told the Germans had completed a new series of experiments and were satisfied they could send V-2 rockets against England "on a fairly large scale."

Farr said he was given this additional information.

That the V-2—a long, fairly fat projectile with tail fins like an ordinary bomb—had been fired on England from experimental stations in Germany and Norway, and that Holland and Denmark bases also could be used.

That the first V-2s carried about a ton of explosive, and that larger V-2s have been designed.

That the quantity of explosive is governed by the distance the V-2 is to travel.

That V-2s, propelled by gasoline or some other liquid, shoot 15 to 50 miles into the air and, after reaching their maximum height, glide back and hit the ground at 800 to 1000 miles an hour.

Farr quoted his informant as saying that, although the Germans could reach the United States with the rockets, they appeared to be concentrating on production of V-2s for Britain.

U. S. Casualties Reach 487,692

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—United States battle casualties have risen to 487,692, an increase of 14,913 over the number reported last week.

The War Department said today the latest Army total is 417,121 as of Oct. 21, an increase of 14,047 since last week's report, which covered the period through Oct. 14.

The latest Navy compilation placed the figure at 70,571, an increase for the same interval of 866.

Army casualties, compared with those a week ago: Killed, 80,666 and 78,522; wounded, 229,212 and 220,529; missing, 53,622 and 51,009; prisoners, 53,621 and 53,014.

Navy casualties: Killed, 28,231 and 27,831; wounded, 28,441 and 27,857; missing, 9421 and 9537; prisoners, 4478 and 4480. (Decreases apparently are accounted for by transfers of names to other categories.)

Allies Stalled In Po Valley

ROME, Nov. 2 (AP)—The campaign which has ground 500 miles up through Italy and cost at least 90,000 casualties in American forces alone was slowed in the mud of the Po Valley and peaks of the Apennines today. Gen. Sir Harold Alexander, Allied commander, said he saw no signs of the Germans pulling out of Italy.

Reds 30 Miles From Budapest

MOSCOW, Nov. 2 (AP)—Russian armored spearheads were reported within 30 miles of Budapest today and advancing steadily against stiff but gradually weakening resistance on the rolling plain southeast of the city.

ADVANCE TO CARIGARA—American troops (arrows) are locked in battle today with the Japs at Carigara on the western end of Leyte Island. Continued Jap landings at Ormoc (A) are reported. Pinamopan, northern terminus of Nipponese escape route to Ormoc is threatened.

Jap Tank Crews Train For Homeland Invasion

By Associated Press War Editor

Japanese tank crews are training to meet an expected American landing on the northern shores of Japan, Tokyo radio reported today in the wake of another bombing raid on the Kurile islands, stepping stones from the Aleutians to Nippon.

The broadcast followed an official Jap statement that the reported flight of Superforts over Tokyo yesterday "was confined to reconnoitering."

In the Philippines American ground forces neared a junction at Carigara on the Nipponese escape route and possible potential site of a Japanese stand.

Tokyo radio, capitalizing on the recall of Gen. Stilwell, invited Generalissmo Chiang Kai-shek to desert his allies and join Japan.

Tokyo radio's latest talk of an expected American invasion of Japan came in reporting the delivery of new tanks "at a front line base in the northern tip of Japan." It quoted the tank commander as saying "training before the enemy landing is more important than sacrifice after the enemy landing."

Dismounted cavalrymen were reported fighting in Carigara town on the northern shores of Leyte island in the Philippines. Infantrymen and tanks of the 24th Division were a few miles to the south.

Jap reinforcements continued to land at Ormos on the west coast in the face of punishing attacks by U. S. planes and PT boats. A freighter, a lugger and a troop-laden barge were sunk.

A 10,000-ton Jap tanker, carrying a deckload of explosives, was blown up by fighter planes off Borneo. Two other tankers were damaged.

A total of 27 Japanese and three U. S. planes were destroyed in the Philippines and nearby islands.

A Japanese communique claimed raiding planes sank four Allied cruisers—it said one may have been a battleship—and damaged three battleships in Leyte gulf.

Adm. Nimitz said he would keep the Japanese guessing as to the number of U. S. warships damaged in the second battle of the Philippines.

The 36th British Division, driving southward in northern Burma, has captured the important junction of Mawlu, 92 miles southwest of Myitkyina.

In China the Japanese drove wedges deeper into the suburbs of Kweilin from the north, south and east in the battle for that Kwangsi province defense center in south central China.

To the south, the enemy made six attacks against Chinese positions 16 miles east of Mosun, 45 miles south of Liuchow. All these assaults were beaten back, a communique said, with heavy losses for the invaders.

On the coastal front of Fukien province the Chinese threw back attacks six miles west of Foochow and recovered a strongpoint.

Armour Reveals Sex Bid

HACKENSACK, N. J., Nov. 2—His wife branded him mid-Victorian because he didn't want to have a mistress and because he objected to her demands for sex freedom, Bernard R. Armour, millionaire president of the Heyden Chemical Corp., testified in his divorce suit in Chancery Court today.

Armour charged that his wife, Martha, 31, of Mt. Vernon, N. Y., was guilty of misconduct with three men on several occasions. He said that in March, 1937, she told him point-blank she didn't want to stay married, and that she suggested they live "like the rich French do."

When he asked her to explain what she meant by this, Armour testified, she told him in France the average wife of a rich man has a lover, and the husband has a mistress. Mrs. Armour told him, he said, to go find a mistress or, if he preferred, she'd provide a mistress for him.

Instead of following his wife's suggestion, Armour told the court, he hired detectives to trail her. The Englewood, N. J., millionaire named the three men with whom he says Mrs. Armour misconducted herself as Dr. Benjamin Kramer, Nathan Berger and Robert C. Ellis. He did not identify them further.

Armour's suit is being contested by his wife who entered a denial of all his charges. The Armours were last in court in Oct., 1943, in a fight over the custody of their three children.

Armour won after testifying that her ideas about sex education for children had caused family arguments. Mrs. Armour appealed this decision, but lost in the higher court.

Although she failed to regain custody of the children, her appeal won her an increase in her allowance from $5700 to $10,000 a year.

Dewey Has FD On Ropes Here

By AUSTEN LAKE

President Roosevelt faces the challenge of his political career when he comes into Boston Saturday in the fight for Massachusetts' 16 electoral votes.

He stands accused of selling his Democratic party down the river to the Communists in his "overwhelming desire to perpetuate himself in office for 16 years."

He stands accused of having so weakened and corrupted his party that it is already being captured by forces of Communism.

His accuser and opponent in the tightening race for the presidency, Gov. Dewey, entrained at South Station for Baltimore early today after the most enthusiastic reception ever accorded a Republican in this Democratic stronghold.

Behind him he left an ugly bundle tied securely with a string of factual accusations, and in it—all wrapped up together—were President Roosevelt, the New Deal, the Political Action Committee, Sidney Hillman, Earl Browder and the forces of Communism that seek control of the United States.

The President put the Democratic party on the auction block for the highest bidder, Gov. Dewey told a wildly cheering throng in Boston Garden, and the Communists bid it in.

Already alarmed by the defection of Sen. Walsh, Bay State Democrats were shaken by Gov. Dewey's smashing attack, which held that the danger of a Communistic controlled government could only be averted by defeat of the man whose "crushing dominance" has so weakened the Democratic party for 12 years that it stands divided and vulnerable to capture by pagan forces.

Boston in its long and varied political history never saw anything quite like the Garden rally. Neither, Gov. Dewey said afterward, had he.

The count inside the banked ovals and on the earth covered floor where the cow wranglers of

Quads Thriving In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 2—Three little girls and a boy—the Cirminello quadruplets—were thriving at Philadelphia Lying-In Hospital today as was their 30-year-old mother, who for weeks had been kept in ignorance of the impending multiple birth.

The tiny infants, weighing a total of 13 pounds, three ounces, arrived during a two-minute period in what is believed to be the first Caesarian delivery of quadruplets in medical history.

Happiest of all was Mrs. Joseph Cirminello, who never dreamed she was making history until excited doctors shouted the news when the boy, the fourth, was born.

Mrs. Cirminello

Relieved after weeks of worry was the father, an analyst with the Securities and Exchange Commission, who knew he was to be father of four ever since August, when X-rays were taken.

Mrs. Cirminello had been told twins were to be born.

Cirminello faced the prospect of raising the four newcomers on an annual salary of about $3600 a year. The Cirminellos live in a modest three-room apartment in suburban upper Darby.

Lying-in hospital, the Pennsylvania hospital branch in which the delivery occurred, announced that it would pay all hospital bills in connection with the birth.

In order of delivery, the quads weighed three pounds eight ounces, two pounds 14 ounces, three pounds eight ounces, and three pounds five ounces, the boy.

The babies were identified as A, B, C and D. Their footprints were taken and each was assigned a doctor to give it special attention. Then they were placed in newly-purchased incubators in a private nursery where three nurses will be in constant attention on eight-hour shifts.

Dewey Talks In Baltimore

ABOARD DEWEY CAMPAIGN TRAIN EN ROUTE TO BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (INS)—Governor Dewey today combined an invasion of the border state of Maryland with his third campaign trip to Pennsylvania.

With the election only five days away, the Republican presidential nominee will bid today for the eight electoral votes of normally-Democratic Maryland and the 35 possibly decisive electoral votes of Pennsylvania.

Republican leaders have told him his noon speech in Baltimore, together with his evening speeches in Wilkes-Barre and Scranton, may swing those two states to the GOP standard. None of the speeches will be broadcast, their contents being aimed directly at sentiment in Maryland and Pennsylvania.

Governor Dewey left Massachusetts in an elated mood, prompted by the huge throngs which greeted him in his four-speech tour of that state yesterday and by the audience response to his Boston Garden charge that the Communists, seizing control of the New Deal, aim thereby to "control the government of the United States."

'So Help Me God'

By RAY L. DUDLEY
Publisher of the Oil Weekly, Houston, Tex.
Reprinted by permission

I stood in the blazing sun at Ellington field in Texas last Monday and watched the Cadets file by, fine manly chaps, watched them come into the hall in which they were to receive their wings as commissioned officers in the United States Army Air Forces.

My third and last boy, a lad of 19, was among them.

Two years ago his mother and I had seen a similar group file into the chapel at Ellington to receive their wings, and our second boy was among them. Today he and his elder brother, who had chosen Navy air, are memories, precious memories, it is true, but boys to be spoken of in hushed tones as boys who would have made good citizens, two boys whose memories will never be dimmed in the eyes of their father and mother.

They, with thousands of others, have made the supreme sacrifice for America as they knew it and loved it.

Then Monday we heard again the prospective officers take the oath necessary to their commissions:

"I do solemnly swear that I will support and defend the Constitution of the United States against all enemies, foreign or domestic, that I will bear true faith and allegiance to the same; that I take the obligation freely, without mental reservation or purpose of evasion; and that I will well and faithfully discharge the duties of the office upon which I am about to enter, so help me God."

For a moment my thoughts drifted from the son whose burned body lies somewhere in France and from the other son who lies in native soil.

OUR FOREFATHERS WHO WROTE THE CONSTITUTION KNEW THAT THEY WERE GIVING TO FUTURE GENERATIONS A DOCUMENT SO PRECIOUS THAT IT WOULD BE WORTH THE LOSS OF AMERICAN LIVES TO PRESERVE . . . AND THEY KNEW THAT THERE WOULD ARISE ENEMIES TO IT, DOMESTIC AS WELL AS FOREIGN.

Then my mind went back to a time nearly three years ago, when my first two boys volunteered, and the pledge I made them then:

"To the best of my meager ability I shall do all I can to defend at home the institutions you boys have enlisted to uphold . . . and I shall do that without fear of sacrifice if it costs me everything I have, including my life, so help me God."

It was not necessary that I pledge my fullest efforts to help prosecute the war . . . they could have expected no less of me as an American and a father.

The casualty lists over the country name thousands of parents whose boys have been lost and whose sons are as precious to them as mine were to me. I claim no distinction as the parent of boys who have died in the service. I can only claim to be among those to whom this war is a deadly serious thing, and I wish my claim to be listed among those who resent with every atom of their being the efforts which are being made by the Hillmans, the Browders, the Murrays and others, including our President, to nullify the sacrifices of thousands of American boys.

As I heard the oath to defend the Constitution repeated by the young men at Ellington, I could not but remember the remarks which have been made about it by Americans of foreign birth who would seek to destroy it . . . "a scrap of paper . . . an outmoded document . . . a bill of property rights rather than a bill of human rights."

And these are the men who are asking that we trust our country to them.

The situation under which the Communist front in America is serving to wield control over our country through the capture of one of our great political parties is so preposterous as to be almost incredible. But make no mistake—the threat is a real one.

THAT A RUSSIAN BORN RADICAL, WITH ALL OF THE CLASS HATE OF HIS NATIVE LAND, SHOULD ASPIRE TO CONTROL THIS COUNTRY IS SO FANTASTIC THAT MANY CANNOT BELIEVE IT. BUT IT IS TRUE.

That he and his fellows have openly boasted that their organization, the CIO, is raising millions as a war chest to help keep Roosevelt in power indicates a blatant confidence in their victory.

That this money should be extracted from hundreds of thousands of members whose membership was forced on them is a disgrace.

That they get away with it is a shameful tribute to the close association they have with our Department of Justice.

Who was it who climbed the stairs, hat in hand, to Hillman's suite in a Chicago hotel to learn the wishes of the boss as to who would be Democratic candidate for the Vice-Presidency?

It was our United States Department of Justice head—the man sworn to uphold our laws (including the Smith-Connally Act which makes it a felony for a labor party or a corporation to contribute to a political party).

Yes, it was Atty. Gen. Biddle, and the man with him was the person who later was named by Hillman as the Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Harry Truman.

With Hillman and Browder and their ilk as arrogant as they are now, what will their attitude be if they succeed in re-electing Franklin D. Roosevelt? Where will their power end? What will happen to the rights guaranteed under our Constitution?

If our interests should ultimately clash with those of Russia, at what point will these men make up their minds as to where their first loyalty shall lie?

If England's interests should clash with those of Russia, will our country's armed forces be thrown against a nation whose kinship to us derives a common parenthood?

This is a long way from the ceremony at Ellington last Monday. The field has widened until the lives of a large group of fine boys seem but a drop in a great ocean.

But it is not a long way from the pledge I made my boys.

Canadian Minister Of Defense Resigns

OTTAWA, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Canadian defense minister, Col. J. L. Ralston, has resigned because the cabinet declined his request for compulsory service overseas for military conscripts, it was learned reliably today. His stand was backed by Angus L. MacDonald, navy minister, whose resignation also is considered possible.

But who Would Want Beans; Beets for Thanksgiving?

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—You're beginning to think now, aren't you, of whipping up that Thanksgiving dinner?

Here are your prospects, outlined by the boss of the nation's pantry, the War Food Administration:

Turkey—There won't be any oversupply in spite of an expected record production. The military services want a lot more turkey than last year. Near the turkey-raising areas there'll probably be enough to meet demand. Elsewhere there may not be enough.

Onions, beets, rutbagas, carrots—Don't expect trouble here. There's a good supply.

BEANS—You'd better look for the canned kind. The supply is pretty good. There'll be few fresh beans.

Cranberries—The crop, short, is only about half of last year's. Mostly you'll have to use fresh cranberries. The canned berries have gone largely into the war services.

POTATOES—A little short for November.

Sweet Potatoes—These are short in the Middle States, worse in the West, better in the East.

Peas—You'll be able to get practically no fresh peas.

Cabbages—Not so good. They won't be plentiful.

PATRIOTIC — Too young to serve as a fighter, 5-year-old John Starr Craig of Arlington is doing his part in other ways. He has sold some $64,000 at war bond rallies since Pearl Harbor . . . and now is preparing to take part in the Sixth War Loan Drive.

Casassa, Revere Ex-Mayor, Dies

Andrew A. Casassa, 57, three times mayor of Revere and current city treasurer, died today in Deaconess Hospital after a short illness.

He was chairman of the Revere committee for the Sixth War Loan Drive at the time of his death.

He served as mayor from 1929 to 1934, after several terms in the State Senate, House and Revere School Committee. He was also former city solicitor.

He was president of Revere First National bank, treasurer of New England Amusement Men's Ass'n and secretary of Massachusetts Mayors' Club.

He was born in Boston's North End and moved to Revere as a child. He was the first boy to graduate from Revere High School.

He leaves his wife, Emily, and a brother, Louis, both of Lynnway, Point of Pines.

WAVES RECRUITS LEAVE FOR TRAINING—A group of the 115 New England women, more than a score of whom are from Greater Boston, wait on the platform at South Station today to board the train taking them to the WAVES training school at Hunter College, The Bronx, N. Y. The new recruits will be given indoctrination courses and specialized training before being assigned to naval shore stations to release men for combat duty.

WORRIED—Brenda Marshall, screen star, is the most worried girl in Hollywood today as she follows the news releases of Manila bombings. Her father, taken prisoner by the Japs when they invaded the Philippines, is in a prison camp there, and she fears he might have been killed.

McGrath Case Goes to Jury

BROCKTON, Nov. 2—The case of Joaquin (Jack) Lopes and Mrs. Bertha Pina, on trial charged with conspiracy to obstruct justice in the murder of Frances McGrath, went to the jury at 11 a. m. today after a 45-minute charge by Judge Cabot.

In his charge, Judge Cabot declared the guilt or innocence of the couple depended on a "very narrow issue—whether they conspired to keep the whereabouts of the child's body unknown to police to impede administration of justice or for some other reason."

A clash of counsel marked closing arguments after the court denied a defense plea for a directed verdict of not guilty. In his appeal to the jury, Dist.-Atty. Edmund R. Dewing asserted the state believes the defendants are still withholding vital information about the little girl's murder.

Dewing argued that for three days after the romantic couple found the child's body in a lover's lane, they impeded the investigation by failing to disclose their discovery.

Police were thrown into a state of confusion, Dewing added, by Lopes' repeated denials that his truck had ever been in the lane, until confronted with proof of the fact and urging of his counsel to tell the truth.

"Both defendants," Dewing said, "have been given plenty of time to tell all they know. Up to July 1 Lopes had a chance to tell what he knew while the public was crying throughout the county: "Who killed Frances McGrath."

"We don't know if the Commonwealth has the full story yet." Dewing shouted. "If he lied once, he may continue to lie. Their stories of their immoral affairs don't jibe.

Counsel for the couple, after a motion for directed verdict of not guilty had been denied by Judge Cabot, argued that there is no statute or common law which placed them under legal compulsion to tell of their tryst or their discovery of the child's body.

He asserted that in his belief the defendants had told police all they knew about the body and how it came into the lane.

He said that names of "Dillon and Warren" had been used in testimony as having similar knowledge and questioned why they were not on trial on similar charges.

Neither defendant was called to the witness stand

State Driver Cox Jailed In Crash

Edward F. Cox, 44, State Public Works Department truck driver involved in a collision with a buswhich resulted in 28 persons being injured, today in East Cambridge court withdrew his appeal from a three-month jail term and was surrendered to the sheriff to begin his sentence.

Cox, since dismissed from his state job, appealed the term Monday and was released in $2000 bonds. Judge Arthur P. Stone found him guilty on five driving charges.

Driver Who Hit 2 Women Hunted

DARTMOUTH, Nov. 2 (AP)—A speeding automobile that hit two women was sought by police today as one of the victims still had not regained consciousness.

Mrs. Ruth Ford, 30, teacher at Dartmouth High School and the wife of an Army private, is at St. Luke's Hospital in New Bedford in critical condition. Her companion, Mrs. John Galloway, was released from the hospital after treatment for bruises.

Mrs. Galloway told police she and Mrs. Ford were walking south on Slocum rd. when the "hit and run car" overtook them, far over on the left side of the highway.

Soldier Ends 50-Yr. Missing Man Case

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., Nov. 2 (AP)—An inquisitive soldier poking around in an obscure mountain cave has answered a 50-year-old question: Whatever became of Gottlieb Fluhmann?

S-Sgt. Francis Brahler of Peterson Field yesterday found the bones of Fluhmann, an immigrant Swiss cattleman missing for more than half a century. He was identified by a passport also found in the cave. It showed that Fluhmann was 21 when it was issued in 1880.

But the cave still holds one secret. Nobody knows how he met death.

Montana Town Jump Ahead on War Loans

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 2 (AP)—The sixth war loan hasn't even started, but Prairie County, in eastern Montana, is ready for No. 7.

State War Finance Chairman A. T. Hibbard reported today that Prairie residents, with a quota of $56,700, already have subscribed $66,300 worth of Series E bonds. The drive doesn't start until Nov. 20.

More Sub Duty Ahead

Joseph A. Downey, 20, torpedoman 2c, of Tappan st., Roslindale, was headed back to a California base today for reassignment to submarine duty in the South Pacific after enjoying a furlough.

Downey is the son of Joseph Downey, Boston American circulation expediter at the South Station. He quit South Boston High School to join the Navy in July, 1941, when he was 17. His brother Paul is a Navy seaman and former merchant mariner who has seen considerable service overseas.

Torpedoman Downey has seven combat patrols in a submarine to his credit. He wears a presidential unit citation, a submarine combat medal and insignia to indicate that in an emergency he could be expected to handle a lot of jobs in addition to that of torpedoman in any American sub.

Teen-Ager Denies She's Love-Pirate

A bewildered girl of 16 found it impossible to understand today when she was informed that another woman had filed a bill seeking to enjoin her from alienating the affections of her husband.

"She has me all wrong," diminutive Arlene Richardson of Washington st., Hyde Park, exclaimed when told that Mrs. Louise E. Berry, wife of Sherman W. Berry of Glenwood pl., Hyde Park, was involving her in legal action.

"Her husband hired me to take care of their two boys, Charles, who is 8, and Richard, who is 5, while she was in a hospital.

Mrs. Berry yesterday filed a bill in equity in Suffolk Superior Court, seeking to enjoin Miss Richardson from communicating or associating with her husband. Judge Vincent Brogna has issued an order of notice returnable Nov. 6.

"But all I did was take care of the boys," Miss Richardson insisted at her home today. "As we live just around the corner I used to come home at night after their father got home. He's very kind but older than I. He's 37 and used to say I seemed like a daughter to him. I like him but we're just friends."

Her father, Frank W. Richardson who has been ill with a spinal ailment for many months, expressed regret at the action involving his daughter.

"My daughter is just a kid interested in her own concerns," he said, "and Sherman is just a good friend who comes over and visits with us occasionally. He paid her to mind the kids and she did a good job. They love her. She's just quit high school to go to a hairdressing school, as she wants to work in the same trade as her mother.

Mrs. Berry in her bill charges the girl "has sought the friendship and company" of her husband and "has communicated with him clandestinely and maliciously for the purpose of destroying mutual affection" between them.

She further claims that Miss Richardson proposes to continue to interfere with her right to the companionship of her husband.

Nazis Reported Quitting Norway

LONDON, Nov. 2 (INS)—Reliable reports from Tromsoe were quoted in a Reuter Stockholm dispatch today to the effect that the Germans are evacuating northern Norway.

Some 30,000 Nazi troops were said to have passed through Tromsoe to the south in the past few days.

115TH FLOWER SHOW

Thousands of the world's most beautiful chrysanthemums were readied today for the 115th annual autumn flower show of the Massachusetts Horticultural Society, Nov. 9, 10, 11 and 12 at Horticultural Hall.

Everett Man Held in Death

Charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of James T. Cavanaugh, 48, of Spruce st., Everett, in a fist fight, Charles F. Reddington, 39, of Broadway, Everett, pleaded not guilty in Malden court today and was held in $2000 hearing Nov. 13.

The victim, booked at Everett police headquarters as an alcoholic after first receiving treatment at Whidden Memorial Hospital, was found dead in his cell yesterday morning. Medical Examiner Andrew D. Guthrie said death was due to a fracture of the skull.

Inspectors Thomas F. McElancy and Edward J. Dunn said the two first quarreled at an Everett night club and later met en route home. It was stated that Cavanaugh fell to the pavement, striking his head.

Marriage Out, Says Bette Davis

COLUMBUS, Ga., Nov. 2 (AP)—Movie star Bette Davis said her carefree vacation at rural Uxauhatchee would end Monday and she would depart for Hollywood.

Cpl. Louis A. Riley, stationed at Fort Benning, was present when Miss Davis granted an interview. On her arrival in Georgia several weeks ago, reports were current that Miss Davis would marry the corporal.

She declared:

"No, I'm not. I'm not trying to be coy—I'm simply not going to marry him."

Dems Learn Walsh Means It

By JAMES J. DELANEY

Heavy pressure is being exerted to put Sen. Walsh on the line for some sort of political speech that might indicate he really didn't mean what he said about his party's vice-presidential nominee, Sen. Truman.

The fly in the ointment now being applied is that the state's ranking Democrat meant just what he said—even as Sen. Truman meant just what he said when he disparagingly referred to Sen. Walsh as "an isolationist we have a chance to reform."

Efforts to have both publicly declare it was all just in fun are getting nowhere because everybody knows it wasn't.

Sen. Walsh stood pat today on his decision not to make the radio broadcast Sen. Truman had scheduled for him tonight.

Arthur Hachten, International News Service correspondent, reported from Washington that repercussions unfavorable to the Roosevelt-Truman ticket were expected not only in Massachusetts but in New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Connecticut and Maryland where Sen. Walsh is held in high esteem as the man who fought to expand the Navy before Pearl Harbor and who has piloted all naval authorizations through the Senate since the war began.

Many of Sen. Walsh's supporters—and he had a record 250,000 majority over an opponent who called him an isolationist in his last campaign—feel that only an outright public apology by Sen. Truman will heal the party wound. Others believe it too deep ever to be healed.

Many expect President Roosevelt on arrival here Saturday will attempt to regain the ticket's lost ground on the promise that his running mate's aspersions on Sen. Walsh's policies were only a bantering reply to a dynamite-loaded question and that its real meaning was distorted by an opposition press.

They further anticipate lavish praise for Sen. Walsh from the President.

There is little doubt the President will invite Sen. Walsh to sit on the platform with him at the Saturday night rally in Fenway Park. Failure to do so would almost certainly end his chances in Massachusetts.

And there is little doubt that Sen. Walsh, once invited, will appear, for such an invitation is tantamount to a command. Nevertheless, Sen. Walsh's name is not among those the state committee announced would meet the President at Hartford for the trip into Boston.

N.Y. Leaders Rap Attack on Walsh

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (INS)—Congressmen and leaders of patriotic societies in New York today condemned Sen. Harry S. Truman's attack on Sen. David I. Walsh of Massachusetts as an "isolationist."

Defending Senator Walsh as a "distinguished American" and "courageous leader," they expressed indignation at what they termed Sen. Truman's "bad taste" and "unjust remarks."

Rep. William Barry (D.) of New York, declared Truman's remark that Walsh was "an isolationist we hope to reform" constituted an unfortunate use of the word. He asserted isolationism is dead and buried.

"The attack on Sen. Walsh is absolutely indefensible," said John B. Trever, president of the American coalition of patriotic societies. "He was the sponsor of the two-ocean Navy and tried to get a bill authorizing it through Congress against the President's opposition."

4 SETS OF TWINS came here recently, all in one day, to be outfitted—guess the population is on the increase, but with this group purchasing, wouldn't you stick out your chest a little bit with pride? That's just what Mrs. Geary, our buyer of infants' wear, did when she was able not only to outfit one pair of twins with outfits, but FOUR sets of twins. It's fun to dress kiddies, but when you have to double the order every time it's hard on dad's pocketbook unless you are shrewd like the wise parents who bring their progeny to Filene's Basement to be outfitted. Legging sets at $21.85 apiece with hats to match at $2.25 made the total $48.20 to outfit each group of twins—and when one family wanted three outfits, up came Mrs. Geary with them pronto and the total with hats included was $72.30 . . . Remember, if you are imaging singly, doubly, or triply . . . Filene's Basement can help you cut the cost of raising a family. Show that you care. Give to the UNITED WAR FUND.

F. D. SPEAKS TONIGHT FROM WHITE HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (INS)—President Roosevelt makes the sixth major speech of his fourth-term bid tonight in a 15-minute nationwide broadcast from the White House.

Mr. Roosevelt will speak at 9 p. m. from the White Hoouse over the NBC network. The remainder of a half-hour program will be used by the Democratic National Committee.

The talk will be the beginning of Mr. Roosevelt's campaign wind-up that, over the week-end, will take him on a final tour of the lower New England States, climaxed by a seventh major re-election bid at Boston's Fenway Park from 9 to 9:30 p. m. Saturday night.

En route to Boston Saturday, the Chief Executive will make brief talks at Bridgeport and Hartford and Springfield.

From Boston the President's special train will carry him to his Hudson valley home near Hyde Park, N. Y., where he will rest over Sunday, and then, on Monday, make a motor tour of the villages and countryside near his home.

At 5:50 Monday afternoon election eve, the President will make his final campaign talk on the air—a brief speech, broadcast nationally, from the postoffice at Poughkeepsie, N. Y., during an hour's "get-out-the-vote" program sponsored by the Democratic National Committee.

Indicating the paramount importance of the Boston speech, it will be broadcast over the NBC, CBS and Blue networks.

Pittsburg Hears Truman Tonight

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2 (AP)—Sen. Truman carried his vice-presidential campaign into hotly-contested Pennsylvania today, where he planned to top off appearances at Braddock, East Pittsburgh, Wilmerding, McKeesport and Uniontown with two addresses here tonight.

President Roosevelt's fourth term running mate will formally close his 8000-mile transcontinental speech-making tour with an address on "Labor and Small Business" at Syria Mosque at 9 p. m., following a radio address to the State at 6:15 p. m.

In his home town of Independence, Mo., he will make a last appeal to the voters of his own state on Saturday night.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—An odorless and "non-irritating" household fly spray has been perfected by agricultural department research chemists.

When used in the new automatic spraying device called the aerosol bomb, the product promises to become an effective postwar weapon against flies in homes, restaurants, airplanes and public places and to kill other household pests such as cockroaches, ants, mosquitoes, bedbugs, house spiders, chiggers, silverfish, carpet beetle larvae, dog ticks and dog fleas.

Mrs. Dewey Scores Hit by Charm, Tact

Petite, brown-eyed Frances Eileen Hutt Dewey left Boston with her presidential candidate husband early today after captivating the hearts of all she met here by her unassuming charm and tact.

The slim, attractive wife and mother frankly disavows that she is a candidate for the title of First Lady of the Land. She is not a public speaker, nor a writer, and the opinions she holds on national politics and world affairs are things she doesn't discuss for print.

Mrs. Dewey smilingly made that plain in her interview.

"For the record," she said, "my views are the same as my husband's. If I have any views that differ from his, I tell only him."

Informality marked her press conference. She was dressed in an afternoon frock of wood violet crepe, the high neck softened by a double-strand choker of pearls. Matching pearl earrings were her only other jewelry.

A small brown off-the-face hat with flower-fashioned halo topped her curlish, brow, slightly graying hair. And she's not too keen about the approaching gray.

"I don't agree with those who hold that gray hair is so very flattering," she said.

How does she keep so trim? She's 5 feet, 3, slim as a schoolgirl, and wears size 14 dresses.

Well, a nation-wide campaign tour solves a lot of weight problems.

"After this trip I can wear size 12 dresses," she remarked laughingly.

Mrs. Dewey discussed her first visit to Boston, back in 1926, when she came here to sing the leading role in a John Murray Anderson show. It was music, by the way, that evolved the romance which led to her marriage. Her husband was a singer, too, but he gave up his music career for law, racket-busting and public office. She relinquished her professional ambitions to the full-time job of running a home.

"We're a musical family," she declared. "All of us sing a lot around the house. Gov. Dewey sings bass-baritone and I sing mezzo-soprano. Both the boys, Tommy and John, are studying the piano."

Undisturbed by queries which ranged from how she redecorated the executive mansion in Albany to where she buys her clothes, she chatted serenely and pleasantly with all. Her smart frocks are not made to order, but purchasit a little shop in Pawling, N., where the Dewey farm homolocated.

"I have always had an extension telephone

Why can't I keep it when I move?"

Telephone people have this question asked of them quite often these days.

The answer is that a War Production Board order prudently prohibits the connection of residence extensions, except for certain needs such as the professional requirements of physicians.

The reason for this is that there is a shortage of telephone instruments, due to the use of essential materials for war supplies; we must make those that are available go as far as possible among people who have been without any kind of service for long periods of time.

Boy's Custody Stumps Judge

BROCKTON, Nov. 2 — Commenting that his job was indeed a hard one, Judge Harry K. Stone today began deliberation on the future custody of little Edward Lucey, an orphan, whose guardianship is sought by six persons.

The boy now is in temporary custody of Rev. Iris Kerr, woman minister, of West Bridgewater, one of those asking custody.

Others are Mrs. Alphonse Sampson of Brockton, an aunt of the child; Mr. and Mrs. John C. Lucey of Fresno, Cal., and Mr. and Mrs. Leo C. Johnson of Portland, Ore., the latter all relatives.

The boy's father, Capt. Edward Lucey, U. S. Army, died in an accident several years ago and the boy's mother died soon after.

At the climax of a lengthy hearing, Judge Stone complimented attorneys for all the petitioners, saying: "All of you have done a fine job, but you have only made it that much harder for me to reach a decision."

Jamaica Plain Boy, 7, Killed by Trap Door

Funeral services were being planned today for seven-year-old William F. Doyle, Jr., of Williams st., Jamaica Plain, who was killed when an old-fashioned trap door fell on his neck. The boy's father rushed him to City Hospital but Dr. Leo Smith pronounced the lad dead.

700 Wounded Vets Aid War Fund Drive

The Greater Boston United War Fund campaign has raised $2,464,305 toward the goal of $7,650,000, Henry A. Laughlin, general chairman, announced today as the drive rounded out its fourth day.

"The great generosity of those people closely associated with the war effort shows that they really know what the fund is for," Chairman Laughlin said. "So far, such groups as civilian war workers and Army and Navy personnel have been outstanding in their contributions and are leading the way in the campaign."

Among 30,000 volunteers working each night on the campaign over 700 wounded veterans who are giving stirring talks on their personal experiences to contribution groups in the 53 communities of Greater Boston.

Sgt. Ralph Robbins of Falmouth, Mass., a Ranger who landed on Normandy in the third wave on D Day, told of seeing people bombed out of their homes, of children running around half-naked and hungry.

"Now I know what these community fund services mean. They are in back of us on the fighting fronts just as much as they are in back of the families we leave behind when we ship out," the sergeant said.

The Fund acknowledged the following subscriptions of $500 and over:

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—I would like to know more about the GI Bill. I believe that bill reads that educational benefits are available only to those vets under 25 years of age. How about over that age? Why have they been eliminated from this all-important benefit? L. R., Worcester.

A—I am very glad you submitted this question because many veterans are laboring under the same impression, also a great percentage still in service. Unfortunately, you have been misinformed on the educational provision of the bill. Under the bill, veterans whose education was not impeded, delayed, interrupted or interfered with by reason of entrance into service are eligible for a refresher or retraining course at an approved educational or training institution, regardless of age, for a period of one year (or the equivalent in continuous part-time study).

Also such veteran enrolled in refresher course shall be paid subsistence allowance of $50 monthly, if without a dependent or dependents, or $75 monthly if he has dependent or dependents.

Any person who was not over 25 years of age at the time he entered the service is deemed to have had his education or training impeded, delayed, etc. The latter, of course, are eligible for the regular school and college programs.

Q—My husband was in the service when I married him. He had already made out an allotment to his stepmother and eventually myself, but he failed to transfer government service insurance to me. His stepmother is the beneficiary. Would I be entitled to any share of the policy if he were killed? B. A., Lawrence.

A—The beneficiary is the only person to whom the payments from the policy would be made. In your case, the soldier's stepmother would receive insurance payments if he were killed. In event of her death, installments of insurance remaining unpaid would be paid you as widow.

Q—My problem is unusual due to the fact that, although an American citizen, I am an honorably discharged veteran of the Royal Canadian Air Force, discharged because of injuries received in a plane crackup. I am in need of hospitalization and cannot go to Canada. Could I apply to a U. S. Veterans' Hospital for treatment, due to the fact Canada is an allied nation? D. S., Cape Cod.

A—You may apply for hospitalization in a local Veterans' Hospital through the Veterans' Bureau, Federal Building, Boston. You application is submitted to Canadian authorities for approval. If approved, you are admitted to a veterans' hospital here. The Canadian Government reimburse the U. S. Veterans' Administration for your hospital care.

Q—Is it true that American soldiers who fought on Bataan and became prisoners of the Japanese government, and who failed to carry National Service Life Insurance policies, are now covered by insurance by the U. S. Government? Mother of Prisoner of War.

A—Yes, a so-called gratuity policy was taken out on each man up to the amount of $5000 by the government.

Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.

Dewey Bares FR's Communist Ties

Text by Thomas E. Dewey But Not Cleared With Sidney

Nazism and Fascism are dying . . . but the totalitarian idea is very much alive and we must not slip to its other form —Communism.

Under these systems, the individual cannot WORSHIP, VOTE or THINK as he would or conduct his life as his own. Slavish obedience to the will of the state is the first great command and the price of non-conformity is liquidation, either through violence or slow, economic strangulation.

Today that pagan philosophy is sweeping through much of the world. As we look abroad we see that in country after country its advocates are making a bid for power. We would be fools not to look for the same danger here. We have not far to look.

Even Mr. Roosevelt has felt he must say that he does not welcome the support of any person or group committed to Communism. That is as may be.

The important facts are, first, that Mr. Roosevelt has so weakened and corrupted the Democratic party that it is readily subject to capture, and, second, that the FORCES OF COMMUNISM ARE, IN FACT, NOW ENGAGED IN CAPTURING IT.

With the aid of Sidney Hillman, the Communists are seizing control of the New Deal, through which they aim to control the government of the United States.

Dewey Speaks---While Boston Chers—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Republican standard-bearer, is the center of spotlights, as he tells capacity Boston Garden crowd in a fie address that President Roosevelt had offered the Democratic Party for sale "to the highest bidder." Lashing out at the "Communist control of New Deal politics," Dewey declared that a Republican victory in next Tuesday's election would save the nation from pagan philosophy. He greets admirers (top left) in the audience after the address.

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

THAT AMERICA MAY LIVE

THE PEOPLE whose lives and welfare will be most affected by the election on November 7 are not the politicians, nor the farmers, nor labor, nor the so-called "money changers." THEY ARE THE "WHITE-COLLAR PEOPLE" OF THE UNITED STATES.

All of the other "classes" have their own sources of social and economic security.

But the "white-collar people" are vested with none of these protective advantages.

Yet they are the VERY PEOPLE without whom the American system of free enterprise could neither function nor even exist.

They pay the bulk of the taxes, both national and local. They include the moderate home owners who give character and stability to the communities. They support the churches and the schools of the country. Their tables furnish the largest market for the farmers.

Theirs is a group into which and beyond which every conscientious and ambitious young man may hope by his own diligence and integrity to ascend.

IF THERE could be any "class" which the Federal Government should sedulously endeavor to protect and to increase, it would be the great American middle class. But under the New Deal this has not been so.

Exactly like the Communists, with whom it is now openly arrayed, THE NEW DEAL HAS MADE THIS DESERVING CLASS ITS SPECIAL VICTIMS.

For under the New Deal the middle classes of America are in the process of elimination from American life.

They endure the onerous burden of New Deal taxation.

They encounter constantly increasing costs of living.

They must obey the dictates of bureaucratic regimentation in almost every detail of their daily lives.

And they have NO REDRESS against injustice under the New Deal.

There are no sympathetic tribunals to which they may appeal, such as the various boards, biased or not, that serve the interests of labor.

They are not endowed with any of the huge New Deal largesses which flow from the public treasury and to which they themselves must perforce contribute, and THE NEW DEAL ALLOWS THEM LITTLE OR NO INCREASES IN INCOME, HOWEVER WELL EARNED.

THE POLITICAL alliance between Communism and the New Deal has no significance more ominous than it has for the middle-class American.

The New Deal-Communist conception of a state composed of ruling politicians and subject peons leaves no space or place for the industrious and self-reliant intermediate classes.

Every intelligent American knows who they are—office workers, salesmen, insurance agents, bank employes, professional men, small business men—in sum, all who work for salaries or who venture in some humble way to work for themselves.

These great intermediate classes are the pride and strength of America.

If they want to PRESERVE AMERICA, they must PRESERVE THEMSELVES.

They must vote for THE AMERICAN WAY OF LIFE in the coming election.

They must vote AGAINST COMMUNISM—and AGAINST THE NEW DEAL.

SINCE I WAS a kid and made Hans Wagner my first object of hero worship I have never had one of my heroes let me down. Not long ago I stated that among the admirals of the U. S. Navy, Halsey was my favorite. It is not entirely the admiral's recent victory in the Pacific that inspires this paragraph. It is also what he said after triumph, namely: "The one sad thing about the whole show is that any American boy has to be hurt or killed in cutting down these monkey-men." This reveals that despite a hard-boiled exterior, Admiral Halsey is at heart a kindly, sensitive and sympathetic man. He doesn't go for that "only" stuff as in "only four of our men were killed." Or "only three of our planes were shot down." He believes the death of even a single American boy in battle is a major disaster. More power to him!

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Easy to see you never played golf or you wouldn't say six clubs are enough for any golfer. A—Have played plenty of golf. Those who have more than six clubs are escapists from the realities of golf or tournament players who seek an unfair advantage by having extra clubs that do most of the work in getting out of difficult spots. Q—Are you progressing in your efforts to understand women? A—A little. I have definitely learned housework is not a subject to be discussed lightly with the female sex. Also, those men who make housework the subject of jest indicating it is a sinecure are flirting with dynamite. In brief, the ladies are very touchy as to their domestic science efforts.

VALUABLE COMPANIONS: "Was presented with a dog," writes a feminine subscriber, "The dog insists upon being taken for many walks. Since I had this pup I have lost 27 pounds and never felt better in my life." (Note—I know of a similar circumstance. An elderly lady who spent most of the time indoors was given a dog she had to take walking. This woman, too, says the exercise has done wonders for her. She is not bothered with colds and feels fine. These incidents seem to not only prove dogs are valuable companions, but that walking is the most beneficial of all exercises.)

PLAYS: The Hardy Family series of films was originally based on the play, "Skidding." Aurania Rouverol, author of "Skidding" received a separate payment on every Hardy Family film produced. When a playwright sells the screen rights to a play, the ownership of the characters is retained. No sequel or series of films utilizing these characters can be produced without payment to the author. Keep that in mind when you write a play!

JAPANESE SCOTCH: Am asked if the Japs made Scotch whisky that was sold in this country. And if it was labelled "Scotch type" whisky. The Japs sold Scotch in this country before the "Scotch type" legislation went into effect. Not only that the Japs sold Scotch whisky in Glasgow, Scotland. The native distillers protested, took the case to court and claimed whisky made in Japan could not rightly be called Scotch whisky. The court ruled in favor of the Japs and commented: 'To say that Scotch whisky can only be made in Scotland is same as saying Irish stew can only be made in Ireland."

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—The party is beginning to get rough up in Fairfield County, Ct., where Clare Boothe Luce, a Republican, with pool-table legs and a face that would clabber milk a mile away, is running for re-election to Congress.

Clare Boothe Luce

I toss in this little dash of descriptive matter about Mrs. Luce because her campaign manager says it is unfair to her to keep on writing how good-looking she is as this tends to suggest that she is using sex-appeal on the stags and might alienate the women's vote. These dispatches aim to be fair.

The Communists of the Political Action Committee have ganged up on the frowsy old ostrich in greater force and vehemence than they have exerted against any other nominee in the country except Tom Dewey, himself, and now it has been announced that Mr. Big, in person, will make a tail-board appearance and toss off a few remarks in his Groton-Harvard Cockney dialect as he passes through Bridgeport, Saturday, on his way to Boston.

Henry Wallace, the Johnny Appleseed of the campaign, who has been thumbing his way around the East like a mildewed bum and making a speech wherever he finds as many as two prospects, or even one, gathered in a rapt and eager throng, is scheduled to speak in 11 towns.

THIS PERSONAL attention from the President and the Forgotten Man might be attributed to a spirit of personal revenge against the poor, unsightly wench because she sometimes gives an imitation of Eleanor Roosevelt telling a humorous and comical anecdote about the time Franklin said he would like to have his shoes soled and the second butler hocked them to the cash clo' man, thinking Franklin had meant that he wanted them sold.

Just to give you an idea of the ferocity of the campaign, Clifton Fadiman, sometimes known as Killer Fadiman, the bull butterfly of the literary teas, made an oration the other night in which he dropped an ominous hint that if the Republicans should win the election we would have a civil war.

He did not say what part he would take in that civil war, but it appears that that is the one that he has been saving for himself since the age of 32, when he was a savage, but vicarious anti-Fascist in the Spanish thing, and down to now in the present scuffle with Adolf Hitler, whom he fearlessly denounces, however.

ANYWAY, those citizens of Connecticut who may be toying with the idea of voting Republican cannot say the Killer didn't give them fair warning that heads will roll and the gutters run with gore if they wreak their wicked will at the polls come election day. The Republicans may even take down their ticket in fear.

The Killer also accused Mrs. Luce of bad manners, being quite an authority on swinishness by reason of long association to say nothing of a natural gift, and said "she is fresh from the pot-holes of Park Avenue," a remark which elicited from her the inquiry: "And where is your pot-hole?" which was irrelevant, of course.

When she isn't prowling around the streets scaring babies and bulldogs with that mug of hers, Mrs. Luce likes trips to the war.

★ ★ ★

ANOTHER of the commandos selected for this shock operation by the Communist-New Deal-PAC axis, is old Dorothy Thompson, who has been fading away as a pundit ever since 1940 when she thought it would be a good idea not to bother to hold a Presidential election.

Mrs. T. had lived a long term in Germany and now you find her mostly in the papers which endorse Roosevelt's own Hitlerian innovations.

She and the hag used to pull hair and kick and scream in a refined way a few years back but Luce finally brushed her off, probably figuring that she was just wasting her time, and Thompson is now in there again trying to renew it, which might help the syndicate sales, although hardly much.

Mrs. Luce heard Quentin Reynolds in one of the attacks from the outside, and suggested that the place for a war correspondent was with the invasion army and certainly not in Connecticut of which he is not a resident.

"I do not envy this man who has chosen this battle," she said, "instead of reporting the battles in which our men are fighting and dying."

Hollywood . . .

By Dorothy Manners

Substituting for Louella O. Parsons, who is on vacation

HOLLYWOOD, Nov 2—Philip Yordan has not only by-passed all current offers for his sensational play "Anna Lucasta" (and some of them are blinding) but he is turning a cold shoulder to all movie bids as a writer.

Bob Hope

Here's why: Yordan is branching out in the movie production field on his own and his first picture will not be "Anna." Instead, he will script and produce Maritta Wolff's 1940 Avery Hopwood's prize winning novel, "Whistle Stop." Yes, several years ago Paramount bid for "Whistle Stop" but never purchased it because the Hays Office, at that time, frowned on the story of the small town Magdalene.

Maybe Yordan's desire to go on his own dates back to the time when he was broke and Hollywood wouldn't give him a tumble. Seven years ago he had "Anna Lucasta" in his pocket and no takers. Now look at it! Writer Yordan's associate in his movie venture is Don Hyde and they will shortly announce their release for "Whistle Stop."

* * *

THERE'S MORE to the Bob Hope-Paramount fracas than meets the eye. First reports were that Bob was balking at "My Favorite Brunette" because he wanted to play camps and go on overseas jaunts. Now, apparently, he wants a brand new deal from Para, whereby he would be allowed to produce a picture on his own each year, either for his home studio or on the outside. So far, the answer has been a flat "no" and the situation right now, as you read this, is that if Bob is not on suspension, he will be shortly.

* * *

WHEN EDDIE BRACKEN moves over to Warners, look for the announcement that his picture will be "Three Men on a Horse." Eddie, you know, goes visiting from Para to Warners in exchange for Jane Wyman.

* * *

ONE OF THE reasons Ida Lupino might be balking at making "Happiness" at Warners is because she wants to play opposite her ex, Louis Hayward in "Ten Little Indians." Rene Clair makes no secret about wanting Ida for the top femme role in which she would play one of the ten murder suspects. Must say that Lupino and Hayward are certainly palsy-walsy. They seem as happy as larks together since their parting. Understand they are jointly angling for "Brighton Rock" with the idea of adapting it to a Broadway play in which they would co-star.

* * *

SIDELINES: Olive Borden, glamour girl of the Clara Bow days, is back in Hollywood—a heroine. Olive was in the WACs and has received an Army citation for bravery in turning over an enemy ammunition truck. She's just been dismissed from Walter Reed Hospital with an honorable discharge—but says she isn't interested in a career any more . . . Fritz Lang received his first letter in years from the caretaker of his Paris apartment. "You'll never know the place," wrote the concierge. "It's much more luxurious than when you left, because the Nazi colonel who occupied your rooms not only had ornate tastes—he had good contacts!" . . . Sorry I said "Two Girls and a Sailor" was an Arthur Horalblow, Jr., production when it was really Joe Pasternak's—and a honey, too.

* * *

HOLLYWOOD IN SHORTS: Melvyn Douglas, upped to a major, is now in India heading the special service division. The most worried girl in Hollywood is Brenda Marshall—practically sick with fear that her father might have been killed in the bombing of Manila. He's a Jap prisoner in the city. Gene Kelly is working Sundays, Mondays and always to finish "Anchors Aweigh" before being whisked into the service. Fred Astaire has a horse running at Hollywood Park—Triplicate. Richard English has checked on the RKO lot to script "Married at Leisure" for David Hempstead. It will star Ginger Rogers. When Veloz and Yolanda finish at the Orpheum they head to Mexico City to the tune of $5000 weekly. Lana Turner's shipped 12 snazzy bathing suits to 12 nurses in New Guinea

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—Was I blushing when I came out of the White House the other day! President Roosevelt said a naughty word!

He said: "D n!"

Yes, he did. He said it right out loud, in front of all us kiddies. It is a mighty good thing my mother wasn't around, because the Secret Service would have had a hell of a time trying to keep her from washing out the President's mouth with soap and water.

You would think the commander-in-chief would be more careful of his language because he must know that us impressionable little hellions pick up everything he says.

Of course, we all revelled when the President said it because we are depraved little jackanapeses at heart. In fact, we came out of the White House and went hippety-hopping down Pennsylvania ave., hand in hand, chanting:

"The President said a naughty word.
"Parlez-vous!
"The President said a naughty word.
"Parlez-vous!
"The President said a naughty word.
"And what it was you should have heard!
"Hinky dinky parlez-vous!"

* * *

THE PRESIDENT allowed the bad word to set his lips as we say in Brooklyn—after Mr. Bert Andrews of the New York Herald Tribune asked if he had made his election bet. Mr. Roosevelt said he made a bet of 25 cents with a man on a train.

Mr. Andrews, who seems to be light-minded and also nosey, asked the President the identity of the man. The President said it was a very dangerous question for Mr. Andrews to ask because the answer would be that it was none of his d— n business.

* * *

THE REASON I put in those dashes is that I just can't bring myself to spell out the whole word. But come around behind the fence and I will whisper something to you.

The missing letters are "a" and "m!"

THE PRESIDENT was asked whom he had bet on, which threw us all into paroxysms of laughter. I have told you before how we guffaw and carry on at the White House press conferences.

Mr. Roosevelt said the bet was not on the general outcome of the election, but on a certain State. A lady reporter piped up and asked if he had given any odds.

I do not think this question was answered. Anyway, I have nothing in my notes. Then another reporter asked if he hadn't disqualified himself by betting on the election. The President said he hadn't because the bet was made outside New York State.

* * *

THERE HAD been previous discussion about Gen. Stilwell and the Chinese situation. A high-minded journalist who obviously deplored the lapse into levity interrupted:

"Now to go back to China" —

Well, the President cut him short with a nifty that laid us in the aisles. He said he couldn't go back to China because he'd not been there.

* * *

AS I HAVE repeatedly said before I do not approve of light badinage and banter. But it is my stern duty to report facts. Therefore, I must report that around the White House they are chanting this parody anent Governor Dewey

"But wan't look spunee
With Clare Boothe Luce
On un icicle built for two!"

* * *

LORD AND LADY HALIFAX, the latter of whom, by a remarkable coincidence, is the wife of Lord Halifax, made a pilgrimage to Mount Vernon recently. Personally, I see nothing out of the way about this because, after all, George Washington used to be a British subject.

On the drive back the Halifaxes picked up two soldiers. The servicemen seemed quite intrigued by Lord Halifax's accent, which is quite British around the edges. They said they supposed he had spent some time in England.

"Well, rather," replied 'Is Excellency, laconically. "I happen to be the British ambassador."

"Oh, sure," said one of the soldiers. "I get it now. You're Mr. Winant!"

* * *

THE POINT of this story—and I don't know why I have to blue-print everything—is that John G. Winant is our ambassador to the Court of St. James's!

I hope and trust he is not mistaken over there for Oliver Cromwell.

I ADORED Sidney Hillman's explanation of his CIO Political Action Committee before the National Press Club the other day.

The PAC, Mr. Hillman said, is a nonpartisan organization seeking to re-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Boston After Dark

POLITICS (PARDON, but it's the topic of today): It is now obvious that "Clear Everything With Sidney" should have been the watchcry AFTER the vice-presidential nomination of that Red-ridden Chicago Democratic convention, as well as before . . . "Sidney" would have been smart enough to clear Sen. Harry "Skull" Truman out of New England before he tangled with the section's deepest roadblock to political usurpers, Sen. David I. Walsh.

* * *

THIS CORNER HAPPENS to know that the Dewey braintrust had just authorized expenditure of a large sum of last-minute money in an effort to swing "doubtful" Massachusetts into the G. O. P. column when the historic "skull" of Senator Truman's in dubbing Senator Walsh an "isolationist" was being uttered . . . Candidate Dewey felt that the old Bay State was not only crucial but amenable to last-minute wooing . . . Fifty times the money authorized for expenditure here could not have bought the vote-getting value of the clash between Walsh and Truman.

* * *

IT IS STILL THE talk of the town . . . How many votes the Truman "boner" alienated from the Democrats may never be known . . . It is possible that thousands of voters (who, like Senator Walsh in fighting against involvement of this country in war found themselves classified as "isolationists,") had intended to bolt the Democratic party anyway . . . But the Truman "boner" nevertheless was valuable to Dewey-Bricker et al, in crystallizing the points Senator Walsh so quickly made, namely that foreign chiefs-of-state were concerned first about the destinies of their own countries.

* * *

THIS, AT ANY rate, was the burden of the chatter along the Rialto last night and the night before . . . One interesting exchange of views reviewed other great "boners," like Paul Dever's failure to try nomination for Governor in 1938 (when Saltonstall met Curley at the polls), the same Dever's failure to court powerful Bostonians when he lost to Saltonstall in 1940 by a handful of votes—but these pale in prospect before the stupidity of Truman in lashing out at a popular figure like David I. Walsh, with a gratuitous statement that may swing this state with its 16 electoral votes that could, and may, win this coming election! . . . We were going to vote (once) for Dewey anyway! . . . But the prospect of a contingency wherein Mr. Truman could be the President of the United States could convert us into a repeater (are mattresses under priority?)

* * *

MEANTIME, can you imagine the coming meeting between Mr. Truman and his fellow Missourian, Robert E. Hannegan, after the mournful blasting from Messrs. John W. McCormack, Patrick "Sonny" McDonough and other local big-wigs in the donkey party were sounding over the telephone to Washington in the last 48 hours?

P. S.—The odds on Massachusetts going Roosevelt were 100-75 before Truman expressed his belief that Sen. Walsh "could be converted to the next two years" . . . They closed to even money yesterday . . . Nor is there very much, if any, of that national Roosevelt money around these precincts as Tuesday next draws nigh . . . Oh, yes, you can get a little . . . But a fervent Roosevelt backer, who was offering 18-5 a week ago, countered the confrontment of $1000 in cash with an offer of $2100 backing Roosevelt. That is only 102 to 5, if our arithmetic is right (as it usually isn't) . . . The irony of it all is that Sen. Walsh suddenly becomes a key and possibly deciding factor in a campaign he sought with all his sagacity to sidestep

Holiday Sauce

By MARTHA LEE

THIS FALL when we serve cranberry sauce it will doubtless be the old-fashioned variety, made with fresh cranberries, because the canned and dehydrated cranberries are reserved for the armed forces and other war needs.

Real old-fashioned cranberry sauce is hard to beat. Any meal is improved by its addition but wartime meals, particularly, are enlivened by the crisp, full flavor and the bright red color of fresh cranberries.

The stewpot and the casserole are being featured more and more these days, and if you haven't tried a cranberry sauce or relish as an accompaniment, you really don't know what you are missing. They are good, and easy to make.

TEN-MINUTE CRANBERRY SAUCE

2 cups sugar, 2 cups water
4 cups fresh cranberries

Boil sugar and water together five minutes. Add cranberries and boil without stirring until all the skins pop open (5 minutes is usually sufficient). Remove from fire and allow the sauce to remain in saucepan until cool. Makes one quart sauce.

CRANBERRY PEAR GINGER SAUCE

2 cups sugar; 2 cups water
Root ginger
2 winter pears, peeled and diced
4 cups fresh cranberries
Grated rind 1 lemon

Boil sugar, water and small piece of ginger root together 5 minutes. Remove ginger. Add diced pears; cook gently for 3 minutes. Add cranberries and continue cooking without stirring until all the skins pop open. Cool in saucepan. Just before serving, sprinkle with grated lemon peel.

CRANBERRY CITRUS RELISH

4 cups fresh cranberries
1 whole orange, quartered and seeded
½ small grapefruit, quartered and seeded
2 cups sugar

Put cranberries, orange and grapefruit through food chopper. Add sugar and mix well. Chill in refrigerator a few hours before serving. Makes 1¾ quarts.

TRICKS TO "PERK UP" MEALS

Breakfast tastes better, gives more work-day pep, when you top off the stewed fruit with a heaping spoonful of cranberry sauce.

Nothing beats a good dessert to make a meal complete. Try cranberry sauce heaped on plain or sponge cake and topped with a soft custard when you want something extra special.

Hot or cold, just as you prefer, cranberry sauce makes a grand sauce with cup custard, spicy bread pudding, plain boiled rice or rice pudding. And you'll love it with Indian pudding and other cereal mix desserts.

The spiciness of ginger, the suaveness of pear cranberry pear ginger sauce—just right with tiny link sausages and corn pudding.

Extra quick, extra good—pour hot cranberry pear ginger sauce in shallow pan. Put over rich biscuit dough. Bake until crusty brown. Serve in squares with thin cream.

Tart, fresh cranberries, pungent juicy citrus fruit—combine in refreshing cranberry citrus relish, so easy to make, too, because there's no cooking. Try it with meats, salads and fish.

Best combination of all, is cranberry citrus relish with duck—a refreshing change from the usual heavy sauce, adds extra flavor, extra goodness.

Something different in fruit cup sherbets—freeze cranberry citrus relish to a mush. Serve topping citrus segments, banana slices, whole grapes. Pleasing to look at, delightful to eat.

Mild Mask for Glamour

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

NOT PRETTINESS, but sculptured beauty . . . firm, strong, classic as a Praxiteles marble is admired today. Yet no matter how much we women treasure our good looks . . . we are disinclined to spend the better part of our lives protecting it. Silly paradox, isn't it? It doesn't mean we should punish our skin into good behavior, but subscribe to a clarifying preparation that is simple yet gentle to use . . . but which accomplishes its task with a minimum of persuasion.

The care of the skin need be no more complicated or mysterious than the care of the body. Yet the care must be faithful and regular . . . as methodical as washing our hands and brushing our teeth. You wouldn't think of going to bed without performing your dental ablutions . . . then why expect the face . . . the delicate and exposed part of the body . . . the part of the anatomy which focuses all critical eyes upon you . . . to be blackhead free or complexion perfect if it isn't subjected to a preservation routine? That dull sallow, lifeless complexion which has a few humps and bumps and a blackhead or two can't go on forever uncared for and still be lovely.

FORCES BLACKHEADS OUT

If you'd like to make your face a firm, strong, classic countenance of sculptured beauty encourage it with the regular use of a plastic cream . . . a mild mask . . . which will rouse the circulation . . . send enlarged pores into hiding . . . and virtually pop the blackheads into absolute nothingness. You need only use it once a week . . . yet the results will be astounding. It is a creamy facial sculpture aid that not only clarifies the skin but actually forces blackheads out of their deep-rooted sockets. And, if you are lucky to be free from these disfiguring checks . . . the plastic cream will brighten, whiten and purify your complexion into a glowing, luminous loveliness you never dreamed of.

Delicately fragrant . . . and instantly rinsed off with warm water . . . the gentle but abrasive action of this perfectly grand cosmetic will rejuvenate your complexion.

For the name of this sculpture plastic cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, except the week-end, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

IF YOU ARE A WOMAN who cultivates beauty, you highly prize the dewey clarity of your complexion . . . but if you haven't the firm, strong, classic loveliness of a sculptured facial beauty . . . then encourage it with the use of an unusually grand cosmetic . . . a plastic cream that will rouse its circulation . . . hide enlarged pores . . . and pop blackheads into oblivion. Part of M-G-M Star Marlene Dietrich's great glamour acclaim is the noted beauty of her chiseled countenance.

Lukewarm Love

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX—I'm 28 years old and have been going with a man of 35 who loves me, but I'm not sure of myself. We plan to be married shortly. He's everything that any girl would want, and I know he could give me a good home. Our tastes are about the same.

I've accepted him because I'm afraid if I don't marry him I'll never have another chance. Mother tells me that most marriages are like that—one partner always loves more than the other. Since I've met him I've had no more lonesome evenings, as he is always on hand to take me wherever I want to go.

Do you suppose I can be happy, even though not deeply in love? I do have some affection for him and would not want to hurt him, he's so fine. T.

Your mother is probably thinking of that old adage concerning marriage—one loves, the other submits to being loved. Many women have gone into a lukewarm arrangement such as you propose and have learned to love devotedly the man they accepted in this fashion.

Likewise, the reverse is equally true. After they have entered into one of these half-hearted arrangements, the man of their dreams has come along, with devastating effects to everyone concerned. All said and done, there are some questions in life every individual must decide for himself. At 28, these days, a girl is not supposed to be placed on the old-maid shelf for keeps.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Wednesday — Before leaving New York city Monday, I went to a lunch given by a really enthusiastic group. The Theatrical and Motion Picture Committee for Roosevelt, Truman and Wagner put on a real show.

It was held at the Hotel Astor under the joint chairmanship of John Golden and Louis Nizer. The room was crowded, and though Sen. Wagner spoke well, I think he would agree with me that the honors were carried off by Mayor LaGuardia, who spoke for all the candidates. The mayor kept everyone listening intently through his whole speech, enjoying it, but at the same time recognizing the truth of what he said, and remembering many little items which will be useful in future arguments!

* * *

I SPENT AN HOUR yesterday afternoon in Washington, seeing the patients in the malaria ward at the Naval Hospital. Most of these boys are Marines who look back to Guadalcanal as the probable source of their malaria attacks. One poor boy was going through bad chills, and I must say I never get accustomed to seeing those boys suffer without a sense of rage that we have had to put our youth through the horrors of this war.

I have been reminded that Oct. 22 to 29 was Hard of Hearing Week, and I imagine that money was raised at that time by many organizations which help the deaf. Because this has been a war of high explosives, we will have many men afterward whose hearing will be impaired. This must be looked upon, therefore, not just as a civilian interest, but also as an interest which will affect many of the younger generation who will have to adjust themselves to deafness in the future.

I HAVE HAD an appeal from a small business which is having trouble getting paper. They beg people not to waste paper, but to conserve every scrap. I must say that I suffered as we drove past the assembled crowds in New York city on our tour the other day when I saw torn paper floating out of many windows.

I know it is hard to express one's enthusiasm without some tangible object. But I think we should restrain ourselves and really remember that every scrap of paper is valuable.

This particular printing company tells me that they have made an appeal to WPB for additional paper. If they cannot get it, they may have to go out of a business which they have built up over a period of 60 years.

Party Spirit a 'Must'

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THE super elegant dress-up clothes that are such an important feature of the styles this fall require some co-operation from the wearer. You can't just fold your hands and expect any dress to do everything for you.

The girl inside a dress can always make or break its effectiveness, and I'm not talking about her beauty of body or face. What I mean is that a dressy dress implies a party spirit, and you have got to supply it if your dress is going to be wonderful as a dress can be.

A sullen, bored or discontented girl is going to look more unattractive in a grand and festive dress than in her everyday clothes. We hear a lot about what a lift clothes give to feminine spirits. But we ought to think just as much about what gay and charming spirits can do for the best dresses in the world and, for that matter, for any dress ever made.

New Skirts by Gres Very Full and Short

By LORELLE HEARST

SPECIAL CORRESPONDENT, N. Y. JOURNAL-AMERICAN

PARIS, Nov. 2—Gres is her new name in America but the woman herself is very well known to us as Alix. She has sold her name and the House of Alix and is now known as Gres. She still sticks to her famous wool jersey and every now and then she shows her famous moulded Grecian drapery.

The skirts are the fullest I have seen. They are circular with lots and lots of fullness over the tummy. All of Gres' skirts are extremely short.

Her shoulders are mostly full of drapery, a la Dolman type. Her sleeves are full to the wrist though some are elbow length with an abundance of fullness at the funnybone.

Her collars are mostly high-standing ones, which will be bad for girls who wear the popular long bangs. They will have to do their hair up on top of the head to be comfortable in these collars. These clothes are very young looking and seem to me to be more suitable to small women.

Gres' collection has a great many small, short capes, some lined with fur and detachable. They give the effect of a deep ruffle around the shoulders.

The necks are all high at the throat except for two or three. Madame has designed one collar which she likes very much because it is on almost everything from blouses to coats. It is a round collar about four or five inches in depth, lying softly at the throat with a high, inverted, unpressed pleat.

Whenever Gres wanted to have a low neck line, she designed a very lovely jabot opening at the throat down quite low. Also on a few things I saw a collar which made me think of a "monk's robe," with a twisted cord which was tied under the chin.

There was a darling little black velvet afternoon dress which, if I had a debutante daughter, I would buy for her at once. It has a wide yoke around the shoulders at the edge of which there is a very deep, full ruffle, sort of giving the impression of a cape. It has elbow sleeves, a very tight waist with a tiny string belt, and the now-famous circular skirt.

Under a black wool suit there was one of the best shirts I have ever seen. It is a white rodier wool, so soft and sheer that it gives the impression of chiffon. This blouse is especially good for girls who feel the cold yet it is dressy and can be worn at night under a silk suit, as well as in the daytime under a wool suit. It is double-breasted with a huge bow tied under the chin.

One of the few times Gres came through with her famous Grecian drape was in a short, black wool jersey evening dress. The back was bare down to the waistline in a V shape, with drapery starting from the front, going around the shoulder and across the back and hanging loose like a cowl collar.

The belt was stunning, with silver metal gadgets shaped like American Indian arrowheads hanging all around the doll waist. The skirt was full and circular.

There was one cocoa brown wool topcoat which was eye-taking. Its top was tight with Dolman shoulders. The skirt was full over the tummy and in back outlining the hips.

It was belted across the back with a belt about five inches wide. Across the front, this same belt pinches in the abundance of fullness which Gres put into the skirt.

Gres, as was true of most of the houses, had few evening clothes in her collection and the few she did show were fully covered up by high necks and long sleeves. A few I saw were made of taffeta and a wool jersey material, using a two-color combination.

I had a feeling that this collection was too thick looking to be flattering to a woman's figure. I couldn't get a picture of the lovely form-fitting, draped jersey things Gres used to make and which made her famous—out of my mind.

CONVICT HELD AS SLAYER OF WAC IN HOTEL

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 2 — In the climax to a strange and ugly confession, William Luallen, 26-year-old convict, today faced a charge of murder in the hotel brawl slaying of WAC Cpl. Naoma Ridings.

The bizarre statement, given to Sheriff Otto W. Petit, told that the young convict had been struck first by the victim when he resisted her advances and that he killed her in the ensuing battle.

The sheriff said Luallen related in his confession that:

Cpl. Ridings called him to the hotel room the night of Aug. 28,

WILLIAM LUALLEN

1943, and another woman he knew only as Dorothy was there. After a few drinks he was intimate with both women.

Cpl. Ridings telephoned for more ice and whisky, which a bell boy brought. Luallen resisted the WAC's advances and she became angry," picking up a whisky bottle and striking at him.

He picked up an empty bottle and struck at her, knocking some soft drink bottles onto the floor. They scuffled and he directed a second blow at her, at the same time smashing the whisky bottle in her hand. He hit her only once, and she fell to the floor.

Luallen picked up a piece of broken bottle and slashed Cpl. Ridings' throat and wrist, to make it appear a suicide attempt.

the rodeo had vacated the premises for the evening, was a round 20,000. Outside in a gyrating, milling state of frustration were another 15,000. It was enough to make the eyes of a professional promoter leak peppermint with envy.

Indeed for the first time in his two-month tour the blocky candidate departed from his long-established custom. He supplemented his radio speech with an impulsive return to the microphones and for several minutes talked, not from a script, but as he afterwards said, "from a full heart."

"Even at the risk of having it sound like an anti-climax," he said, "I couldn't help but add a word of thanks to New England and the people of Boston."

It had been, he said, a full and satisfying day beginning with a tailboard talk from his private car "David Livingstone" at Pittsfield.

A day where the volumne of enthusiasm swelled as he progressed to Springfield, to Worcester and to Boston to give what veteran journalists who have accompanied him on his campaign swing termed, by all odds, his "fightingest speech" in a rising crescendo of aggressive attacks on New Deal maladministration. There were no holds barred last night!

Characteristically the challenger entered the scene at the exact instant the microphones were opened to the national ether, charging immediately to the attack without wasting words.

"Once every four years," he intoned in the strong resonance that has come to be the match of the President's silvered syllables, "late in October, my opponent announces that he believes in the enterprise system . . ."

The crowd which had previously worn down its mass larynx with a sustained ovation that had finally been quelled by Dewey's shushing waves and an insinuating point at the mikes, let loose with a roar. They accepted this as the sample keynote and found it to their liking.

"Then," said Dewey, "for the remaining three years and 11 months he wages war against the American enterprise system day in and day out."

The crowd settled down to serious listening with none of the artificial frenzy which is usually associated with the partisan political throng. For a congregation that exceeded anything that had been legally shoehorned into the big crater atop the North depot since the new fire hazard laws were invoked, it was a meditative, sober-minded crowd—there to appraise the man whose voice had increasingly lured the American ear. There was, at times, that in its attitude of a shrewd housewife pinching market melons for ripeness and size.

And, as Dewey turned the corner of his first page with the charge that "Mr. Roosevelt, in his overwhelming desire to perpetuate himself in office for 16 years, has put his party on the auction block—to the highest bidder," they seemed to like it. It was strong talk which grew steadily stronger as it proceeded.

"And who will buy it?" demanded Dewey with that in his voice betokening the legal mind addressing a jury. "Will it be the notorious One Thousand Club which paid for Mr. Roosevelt's speech last Saturday?"

No heckling voice came from the throng if there were dissenters there last night. Indeed there has been no single instance of heckling in the six major rallies which the writer has attended during the loop from Rochester and Buffalo to New England. There were no verbal wisecracks, no thrown eggs as had been a lamentable feature of Wendell Willkie's cavalcade through this region in 1940.

Yet Dewey—as he was last night—has been more vigorous, more caustic and more factually denunciatory of the New Deal than Willkie ever was. It may be that his arguments are more coherent to the man in the street, couched in more understandable language and delivered with greater conviction. For undeniably Dewey, in addition to his other attainments, must be rated one of a practical political orator, which Mr. Willkie was not.

For the Republicans of this state it was more than a Dewey reception. It was a family feast in which all the lesser hopeful members were supping at the same table—Joe Martin, the aspirant Speaker of the House, Saltonstall, the favorite son walk-in candidate for the U. S. Senate, Horace Cahill, Bradford and the minor et ahi.

Dewey warmed to his work as he swung into his central theme—the acceptance of Sidney Hillman's Political Action Committee and Earl Browder's Communists as four-term bedfellows. For 10 minutes he bitterly analyzed the history of what he had previously called "the strange trinity," and capped it with the paragraph:

"Now Mr. Roosevelt, in his recent speech from the White House very softly disavowed Communism. But the very next day, at a meeting right here in Boston, Earl Browder made a speech for Mr. Roosevelt, and a collection was taken up for a fourth term" . . . Dewey's voice lowered to an insinuating murmur, "and not a voice in the New Deal was raised in protest."

Dewey admittedly had saved this theme for New England, where he knew that the bete noire of the region is radicalism. So he strummed that harp string till it hummed. He laid Browder down with a jolt ("So much for Browder") and picked up Hillman ("Now who is Sidney Hillman?").

"In addition to being chairman of the Communist-controlled American Labor party," intoned Dewey, "Mr. Hillman is also chairman of the Political Action Committee . . . which summarized the degradation of New Deal politics in a pamphlet, two million copies of which were sent out on behalf of Mr. Roosevelt. That pamphlet began with the words: 'Politics is the science of how who gets what, when and why.' Under that cynical motto Mr. Hillman today operates the National Citizens Political Action Committee with his lieutenants who have taken leave of absence from high political posts . . ."

There was much more said in the massive, unhurried diction of the bull-browed man who invoked all the arts of his oratorical craft, the flashing eye, the thinly pursed lip, the turned profile, the jutting jaw, the sudden grin, all of which have been standard in the Roosevelt repertoire for years. But one sensed that Dewey was not a copyist. The mannerisms were those of a common art, equally shared.

And when he turned away as the central clock hands inched toward 10.15 the crowd stood and played him away with applause, standing on the slopes and tarrying briefly for post-estimates. They seemed, by common consent, ready to call it a successful evening. Dewey in his hotel quarters did so too. So did the big and little members of Massachusetts' Republican family. Everybody appeared satisfied except the Democrats.

Suicide Pilots In Jap Torpedoes

LONDON, Nov. 2 (INS) The Japanese are using a new kind of weapon against the American fleet in Philippine waters air torpedoes with a pilot—the German DNB agency reported today.

The "human V-1's," according to the agency, have only enough power for the flight to the target. The pilots die in the explosions.

These death fliers, DNB said, try to maneuver the torpedoes to hit the sides of U. S. warships.

They are all very young, the agency declared, and are organized in the "Kabikaze Corps," which derives its name from Kamikaze, "the divine wind," which destroyed an enemy fleet in the period of the Mongolian invasion and saved Japan.

His release . . . was a most serious abuse of the pardoning power. Evidence reveals that the then Lieut. Gov. Francis Kelly was the person within the Council most active in furthering Tartar's pardon. There is evidence that Lieut. Gov. Bride in New Home

MRS. CHARLES FOUNTAIN WILLIS 3D, the former Grace "Bo" Eddy who has lived in Florida since her marriage last June, has just completed a visit with her parents, the Randolph L. Eddys of Beacon st. She left the Hub yesterday to set up housekeeping in the cottage her Navy lieutenant bridegroom was fortunate to find near his new base at Quonset, R. I.

Over the luncheon table at the Ritz the other day Bo and one of her best friends, Eleanor Pingree of Weston, were making gay plans to visit the couple's new home at Quonset next weekend. Even more ravishing than ever Bo accented her lovely Florida tan and blonde hair with a navy outfit and fox jacket. Ellie was adorable in a crimson Lanz suit with furs.

Mrs. Charles F. Willis 3d

On a recent evening, Ellie, who has given up her full time job in order to do more volunteer work, had a dancing date at the Oval Room with Marine Pvt. Joseph Ewing, Jr., who was here from Washington and whom she met at Lake Placid last winter.

A PHOTO of the ambulance Mrs. William Dana Orcutt and her Mornings of Diversion group donated to the American Field Service in Italy, arrived just in time to be admired at this season's first Diversion Morning yesterday in N. E. Mutual Hall. And Mrs. Orcutt read a letter from Gen. Mark Clark thanking the group for its generous support.

The guest artist was Te Ata, American Indian princess who interpreted in song, dance and mime the folk lore of her people.

Mrs. Orcutt, in a pale blue dress, squirrel hat and corsage of orchids, was warmly greeted by her many friends during the sociable half-hour before the lecture. Among them were Mrs. Robert Treat Paine in her favorite black with a corsage of white freesia, Mrs. Robert Stevenson, Mrs. Charles E. Stone, Mrs. Phineas Sprague, Mrs. Harry Hayward, Mrs. Russell Codman and Mrs. Walter J. Badger, whose black dress had a gay red yoke and antique gold clip.

Representing the military were Mrs. John C. Dewey, Jr., an Army wife, with her mother, Mrs. George Talbot, and Mrs. Harold Pierce, wife of the Marine commanding officer in this district. Mrs. Pierce brightened her black suit with an aqua blouse and double pearl choker. Others in the large group were Mrs. Charles E. Bacon in her Red Cross uniform, Mrs. Walter van Kleeck in gay turquoise accessories with her black suit, Mrs. Frederick S. Without Painful Backache

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Election Returns To Be Broadcast

Complete election returns, with expert analyses by veteran political observers, will be broadcast over Station WMEX direct from the editorial rooms of the Boston Record-American Tuesday night.

The broadcast will begin at 7 p. m. and continue until such hour as the returns give definite indication of the winners in the state and national elections.

The Record-American, through special arrangement with WMEX will have radio equipment installed in the editorial room where the returns from all over the country will be arriving every minute.

Returns will be announced as fast as they come into the Record-American, and listeners will be informed at all times of the exact position of their favorites in this hotly-contested election fight.

Among the seasoned newspapermen who will help listeners understand the returns will be Austen Lake, Boston American feature writer, Sports Editor Jack Conway, George Brady, chief editorial writer, Frank Reilly, Henry L. Daily and John W. English, veteran political writers for these newspapers, John Meade and other authorities on political affairs.

During the evening, each candidate whose election seems assured by the returns will be brought to the microphones to speak to the radio audience.

Listen to Station WMEX election night from 7 p. m. and hear the Boston Record-American election returns, first, complete and accurate.

Pencil Offered JVA Members

Col. William A. Kelley, state liaison officer of the Junior Victory Army for Rhode Island, has announced that he will be pleased to give a pencil, engraved "Colin Kelley Corps - Junior Victory Army," to any member of the JVA who will drop him a line.

Col. Kelley, able and energetic officer of the corps, is adult sponsor of the Colin Kelley of Newport, R. I., corps No. 229, and among other things, has won a wide acquaintanceship and host of friends through his many visits to former JVA's now in the service and stationed at Newport and members of their families.

Those wishing the afore-mentioned pencils are asked to wait a couple of weeks before writing Col. Kelley as he is in the hospital recuperating from a minor ailment. The address to use when writing him is 15 King st., Newport, R. I.

Capt. William Thomas Dennett of corps No. 229 reports that the corps now has 111 members and that at a recent meeting Roland Silvia of West st. and Lt. Lewis Armistead of Osborne ct., both of Newport, were admitted. Dennett, who has been sergeant of the corps for the past two years, was promoted to the rank of captain at this meeting and Patrick O'Connors was made sergeant. Commander David Norman Gomes is substituting for Col. Kelley as liaison officer while the latter is in the hospital.

Com. Victoria Mangot of the Daughters of Victory, the girls' auxiliary, played "God Bless America" at the opening of the meeting. Lt. Mary Mangot of the Nurse Corps and Past Com Neal Sullivan, who have served as co-chairman of the salvage committee, reported that many members made enough money from the sale of fats and paper and other waste materials to buy a War Bond and that also a special fund is being set up to have the regular monthly meetings of the corps held each holiday.

The next meeting will be held Armistice Day when the new Lt Lewis Armistead Corps will be inaugurated.

To join the JVA, send your name, age and full address to Junior Victory Army headquarters, P. O. Box 228, Boston, Mass. If, in addition to enlistment you want the PVA insignia pin and membership card, enclose a 10 cent coin well wrapped in your letter.

Read the next JVA story in Friday's Daily Record.

Ross Has Given Bruins New Power This Season

By JACK CONWAY

HOCKEY IS headed for what should be one of its most successful seasons. This is indicated by the large crowds at the games played so far this season and the high type of competition that has been offered. Boston and New England hockey fans are gratified by the improvement the Bruins have shown. It looks as if Art Ross, the miracle man of hockey, will once more come up with a club that will make things interesting for the opposition.

Ross is this writer's idea of the greatest manager in hockey. Over the years Art has been faced by many perplexing problems in handling the Bruins, but he always surmounted them.

Art Ross

It is a tribute to Ross that since the war started he has urged every member of the Bruins who was subject to the draft to enter the service. He has recognized that the winning of the war is the paramount thing today, and that such things as the winning of the Stanley Cup can wait, if necessary, for the postwar period.

Ross has secured the necessary replacements when star players have entered service. This fall he has once more come up with many promising players.

You will see a vastly improved, aggressive club on the ice when the Bruins play their first home game of the season against the Blackhawks at the Garden a week from next Tuesday night.

The entire receipts of the game will be donated to the Disabled Veterans Fund of the American-Record-Sunday Advertiser. There will not be a cent of expense for either hockey club or for the Boston Garden. Art Ross, manager of the Bruins, and Lt. Col. Walter A. Brown, president of the Garden, have gone all out for the war charity.

The Treasury Department has approved the game as for a recognized charity. With hockey fans eager to see the Bruins in action and with all of the receipts going to the Disabled Veterans Fund, it is expected that a capacity gathering will be on hand to witness the game.

Tole Free Ran Out

THE UNCERTAINTIES of a horse race was proved once again at Rockingham Park when Tole Free, with Jockey Joe Martin up, ran out at the head of the stretch in the eighth race, a one mile and a sixteenth affair, while leading, and finished out of the money. Tole Free was an 8 to 5 favorite and ran like one in the early stages of the race.

Tole Free looked as if he were home free as he raced around the final turn. Reaching the head of the stretch and while having a commanding lead, Tole Free ran out. For a time it looked as if the horse would crash into the fence. While Martin struggled to get his mount under control, Jockey Balzarett came on to win with Defense Bond, who returned $62.20 to win. There was a place payoff of $51.40 on Picanny, who was a 60 to 1 shot.

The fact that Tole Free ran out enabled the backers of Defense Bond and Picanny to enjoy large payoffs.

Jockey Balzaretti chuckled over his good fortune as he stepped on the scales following the race.

It was a particularly bad break for Mrs. D. Chamlin who started Tole Free in the race. In addition to having her horse lose the purse, Mrs. Chamlin also lost her horse as he was claimed by Mrs. J. J. Quinn.

Fall Racing Popular

THE MID-WEEK crowd of 10,000 persons wagered $622,000 . . . When the weather is ideal, as it was yesterday, fall racing is popular with New England racegoers.

Peter Boone, who won the sixth race, making it two in a row, jumped the fence at the gap while well out front in a race earlier in the meeting . . . The "Lady in Red" did not do any show betting . . . With large fields, there was not a spot attractive enough for the "Lady in Red" to risk $5000 to $10,000 on a horse to show.

Sarno Drives His Eagles Hard

With only two days of practice left, Coach Moody Sarno will drive his Boston College charges hard before they meet their second strong opponent in as many weeks, the "Night Raiders" from the Melville, R. I., PT base at Alumni Field next Saturday afternoon.

The game will mark the season's opener for the visitors, but the team is composed for the most part by former college stars, and they will make it tough for the Heights men. The experience gained from the game will be invaluable for both teams, but especially the Eagles who are pointing toward their game with Holy Cross on Nov. 26. The "Night Raiders" meet Harvard and Holy Cross in that order after their tilt with the Eagles.

Although they will not be at full strength for the coming game, BC will be somewhat strengthened by the return of Jack Rabbette, speedy seat back, who viewed the Syracuse tilt from the sidelines due to a bruised shoulder.

Latin-English Game in Stadium

The annual football game between Boston Public Latin School and English High School, the oldest schoolboy football rivalry in the nation, will be played at the Harvard Stadium, Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 23, at 10 a. m., it was announced yesterday by Joseph McKenney, director of physical education. The Stadium was obtained through the courtesy of the President and Fellows of Harvard University at the request of Mayor Maurice J. Tobin.

PT Grid Squad Rugged

By HUCK FINNEGAN

MELVILLE, R. I., Nov. 2—Spirit of the Bulkeleys and Kellys pervades this PT boat base whose football gladiators open a four-game campaign Saturday at Boston College. Half of the squad of 50 Titans have seen overseas service, and football is child's play to them. They love it.

They practice early and practice late—anytime they can spare an hour from their onerous duties. Officers and enlisted men are on equal footing on the gridiron. They work hand in glove. Every man of the 3500 at the base is behind the team, and already they're dreaming of an undefeated season and a game with Ft. Pierce of Miami for the Atlantic seaboard championship.

Athletic director Lt. Charlie Sharp, who hasn't played football since '36, is in uniform every day "in case the tackles need bolstering." Charlie was an end at Texas U. He's a place-kicker of parts, too.

Head Coach Lt. Red McClain stops practice every once in a while to give the boys pep talks. Even Com. David J. Walsh appears on the field to tell the boys that "second places don't count." He reminds them that the baseball team won 23 straight games last summer; that the '44 basketball team lost only two of 24 games.

Lts. Walt Robbins and Jon England, Harvard boys with Pacific experience, act as managers. "Beat Harvard" is their new motto. A third Harvard lad, Bill Stedman, is a reserve back.

Cooks treat the football squad like conquering heroes. Prize delicacies are set before them at conclusion of practice. "But it'll be beef stew for the duration if you lose a game," they are threatened.

"They gotta beat BC and every other opponent," say the enlisted men. "We've bet so much money on them, they don't dare lose."

FINE TALENT ON SQUAD

There's talent on the squad, and linemen like Lennie Thom, All-America from Ohio State, and Tom Vohs, All-East from Colgate, help McClain with his manifold duties. Practice is rough. The boys can dish it out.

"I've been reading where those BC boys are rough," says a bystander in blue. "If they're smart they'll be nice boys Saturday."

"Where'd you get that story Svenson, or I, can't play against BC because we played pro ball?" asks McClain. "We'll play, don't worry." McClain played fullback for S. M. U. in '38-'40, was with the New York Giants in '41, before Pearl Harbor. He's a stocky chunk of dynamite who loves physical contact. He's a player-coach. "I have to play" he insists. "I can't keep still on the bench." Svensen was with Green Bay and Brooklyn Tigers.

Scan the lineup: Ends, Moore, 170, and Berger, 195; tackles, Vohs, 205, and Thom, 210; guards, Shew, 207, and Smith, 185; center, Svendsen, 185; qb, Schmidt, 208; fb, Secrest, 188; rhb, Cooper, 170; lhb, Zoeller, 180. All but Moore and Schmidt have had considerable college experience. The lineup includes 60-yd. punts (Secrest and Lew Smith) and 50-yard passers.

When Steve Levanitis and Johnny Lucey get in shape, we'll challenge the Chicago Bears," say enthusiastic gobs. Levanitis, overweight after his furlough, "will play a little" Saturday. Lucey, ex-Colgate great, will play considerable.

It's a two-fisted team with plenty of experience in its ranks.

No question, the men are far superior to BC as physical specimens, and they're older. But have they been together long enough to perfect their timing and precision? And will they wilt in the second half of the game? BC's best chance of holding the score down lies in condition.

★ ★ ★

Guards Shew and Smith, Pacific veterans, will co-captain the team Saturday . . . Torby Macdonald suffered a severe ankle wound in the Pacific, and it is doubtful if he'll get into togs . . . The base will send up a band of 35 piece, all volunteers.

League Dates Prove Tough for Bruins

By BILL GRIMES

One of the most important contributing factors to the annexing of a berth in the Stanley Cup series, believe it or not, is the N. H. L. schedule. There is no sinister motive behind the fact that some clubs are called upon to play four and five successive road games while others are listed for no more than two before returning to the home billet.

Bill Grimes

There are two causes for the difficulties that annually confront the schedule makers.

First, Toronto and Montreal demand Saturday night dates, while New York, Chicago and Detroit insist upon being at home on Sunday nights.

The Maple Leafs fought for and were alloted 21 Saturdays, which is the Jack Pot. Because Canadians prefer to sit at home on Christmas and New Year's, the Leafs missed one Saturday last year. They played the Bruins here on Jan. 1. Les Canadiens will act as hosts on 14 Saturday evenings during this campaign.

Although no club can come up with the three bells in the tussle for Sunday night home games, the Blackhawks and Rangers each got 15 and the Red Wings 14, which gave the Chicago and New York clubs a total of 30 Sunday nights for the past two years and Detroit one less.

LOCAL TUESDAY LIFE SAVER

But for the fact that C. F. Adams had the foresight to educate Boston fans to set aside Tuesday nights for hockey, the N. H. L. would be in a bad way right now. The Bruins take much of the pressure off the schedule makers by playing 14 of their 25 home games on Tuesdays but Art Ross did succeed in jumping his Sunday quota from four to eight.

The second reason the powers that be encounter difficulties arranging schedules is the "booking" of such shows as the "Ice-Capades," the "Ice Follies" and Sonja Henie.

Before he can start drafting N. H. L. schedules, Pres. Mervyn Dutton must know the dates the arenas are available. In the two years he has made up the schedules, Dutton has done an excellent job under trying conditions.

True, he gave Toronto and Montreal a total of 35 Saturdays but then he turned around and listed the Maple Leafs to play 15 and Les Canadiens 14-week-end double-headers. For Sunday concessions he made to Chicago and Detroit, Dutton demanded that the Blackhawks play 10 and the Red Wings 12 twin bills.

TOUGH BREAK FOR BRUINS

As we see it, the Bruins drew the toughest schedule. In the first place they were handed five road week-end double-headers. They've already played the Flying Frenchmen and Red Wings on successive nights in Montreal and Detroit and after meeting the Maple Leafs next Saturday in Toronto, they will jump out to Chicago for a Sunday night tilt with the Hawks. Moreover, the Rossmen were again called upon to play five road games before appearing on their home ice.

Early in January, the Bruins will take to the road and play in Detroit, New York, Toronto and Chicago before returning to the Garden and late in February, they bump into another four game away from home stretch, which will take them to New York, out to Chicago, back to New York and then out to Detroit.

Pres. Dutton frankly admits that the schedule is rough on some clubs, but calls attention to the fact that when the campaign is over each team will have played 25 games at home and an equal number on foreign ice.

Big Crowd Sees Hawks Down Rangers, 8 to 3

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (INS)—The Chicago Blackhawks went into the winning column last night in the National Hockey League by defeating the New York Rangers, 8 to 3, before a crowd of 10,324 at the Chicago Stadium.

Ken McAuley, Ranger goalie, was a star in the first period when he had the Blackhawks handcuffed, but Clint Smith broke through McAuley's defense early in the second chapter and thereafter the Hawks found the range repeatedly.

Luke Check and Harvey Fraser, amateurs, made their professional debut as Blackhawks, the former scoring a goal on an assist play from Fraser while the latter beat Goalie McAuley on an unassisted foray.

"IRISH" JOHNNY RYAN IN TOUGH BOUT — When he meets Henry Chmielewski of Portland, Me., in the Callahan A. C. feature tonight at Mechanics Building.

Sprinkled in the crowd that will be on hand to watch these two colorful middleweights slug toe-to-toe will be 300 wounded veterans from the South Pacific theater of war who are being brought to the bout from the Cushing General Hospital in Framingham and the Lowell General Hospital at Fort Devens.

It goes without saying that they will be lending their cheers to those from the host of admirers of Ryan, a 23-year-old Irish lad who already has seen seven months of service as a GI.

Ryan wound up his training here while on a furlough and is in good shape but he will have plenty of work cut out for him by Chmielewski, a rough and ready puncher of Polish origin who has been building Liberty ships since Pearl Harbor.

The card follows:

Big Leaguers Draft 19 Minors

CHICAGO (AP)—Major league losses, with three exceptions, planked $137,500 on the line in "grab-bag" fashion for 19 league players—three more than last year—at their annual draft meeting yesterday.

Only St. Louis' two championship clubs, the Cardinals and Browns, failed to make a player bid, while the Detroit Tigers were unable to corral any of their three choices.

The Philadelphia Phils, making the first choice on the basis of their last-place finish, selected 25-year-old Charley Sproull, pitcher, who won 16 while losing seven for the champion Milwaukee club of the American Association last summer.

The Washington Senators, making the first American League selection, picked Marino Pieretti, Portland pitcher, who won 26 and lost 13 in the Pacific Coast this year, and on the second round obtained Walt Chipple, Montreal outfielder.

Other selections—Chicago White Sox—Shortstop Dan Reynolds, Newark, and Catcher Edward Fernandez, Los Angeles; Boston Braves—Outfielder William Ramsey, Sacramento, and Catcher-Outfielder Mike Ulisney, Memphis; New York Giants—Pitcher William Emmerich, Rochester; Cleveland—Third Baseman Ed Wheeler, San Diego; Chicago Cubs—Catcher Len Rice, Syracuse; Boston Red Sox—Catcher William Holm, Los Angeles; Cincinnati—Outfielder Howard Moss, Baltimore; New York Yankees—Catcher Herb Crompton, Toronto, and Pittsburgh—Catcher Le Roy Jarvis, Montreal.

Park Dept. Grid Title at Stake

One of Boston's annual grid features, the Park Department finals, takes place at Fenway Park, Sunday afternoon with the powerful Codman A. A. defending its city title against the Geraghty Club.

This attraction, which is free, generally attracts better than 20,000 fans. It is expected that there will be the usual big turnout.

The Geraghty outfit has had a great season and may come through with an upset but the Codmans with their veteran strength is the rightful pre-game favorite.

Olympics Here For Workouts

Their arrival in Boston postponed by a delay in crossing the Canadian border, the Boston Olympics finally had their first workout at the Arena this morning. For the past two weeks the club has been getting h.. '.ape in the Coliseum in Quebec City.

Under the watchful eye of Coach Hago Harrington, the squad of eight veterans and six newcomers will begin their local practices for their first Eastern Amateur League game in New York city next Tuesday against the Rovers. The Olympics do not play at home until Nov. 18 when they meet Washington at the Garden.

Among the veterans of last year's campaign who are back are Goalie Maurice Courteau, Defensemen Guy Labrie, Ty Andersen, and Fernie Flamon, and Forwards Russ Kopak, Alan Rittinger, Joe Schmidt, and Tommy Brennan.

The newcomers include Goalie Dutch Pineo, Defensemen Maurice Lallo and Lloyd Ernst, and Forwards Theo Hamel, Jerry Bellemaire, and Mint Wenaus.

The Pics' practice session this morning will be put on as a demonstration for the boys who are attending the hockey school this week at the Arena. Coach Harrington, who is conducting the school, will use his team to show the youngsters how a top-notch amateur club conducts its workout. The school, which is held daily from 9:30 a. m. until 11:30 a. m., will continue through Saturday.

Paddy O'Connor Wins Mat Award

Paddy O'Connor remained undefeated locally last night when he was awarded the decision over Doctor Fred Meyers who was disqualified for unnecessary roughness after 14 minutes, 10 seconds of the first of the two main mat bouts staged before 3500 fans at the Arena.

Nanjo Singh took the second main attraction from Doctor "Dropkick" Murphy with the "Cobra hold" after 20 minutes, 47 seconds.

The semi-final and the first bout ended in draws between Ted Germaine and Salvatore Balbo and Zeus Wilcheski and Ed "Stranger" White.

Military Transfers Ruin California Eleven

BERKELEY, Cal., Nov. 2 (AP)—Life is just one bad fumble after another for the University of California football team. It got upset by Washington last week, and then lost most of its first string personnel through military transfers.

And then yesterday—. It was disclosed that Quarterback Bob Celeri had tripped over his textbooks, likely would be scholastically ineligible for the rest of the year.

Abington Points For North Quincy

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Abington High School football fans don't mind it in the least bit when you refer to their team as a bunch of farmers—just so long as you show the proper respect and you happen to be speaking along championship veins. The same fire that has sent Coach Herb Semino's eleven roaring to three straight victories has spread throughout the town so that this gridiron hotbed is aflame again.

Practically the entire town will be moving to North Quincy Saturday to find out just how much North's 47-0 victory over Norwood meant last week.

Moving into the opening game of the season against Plymouth, Abington had romped through 17 contests without a setback. The Pilgrim team proved to be No. 18 (32-7) before Hingham (32-0) and Canton (18-12) were added to the list. In between the tilt with Stoughton had to be postponed because of weather conditions until Nov. 18. Now Coach Semino's boys will be going after No. 21 against a better than average North Quincy outfit.

Farmers? Hardly with that football record, but actually—with Coach Semino working out an arrangement for two of his first stringers—Ken and Jim Griffin—so that they'll be able to help out with the work at home and still play football.

The Griffin brothers, a pair of 160-pounders, assist at their father's farm. They're needed there, as is obvious through the labor shortage, to milk cows and do other chores. They're both willing and able and both anxious to play football. So they've made an arrangement whereby they alternate at practice sessions—one playing football the other going home to work.

Both get up at 4 o'clock in the morning to work before leaving for school. Their spirit is typical of the entire team.

Jim Griffin is a fullback and co-captain, a kicker and a passer. He operates in Coach Semino's Notre Dame offensive with quarterback Bill Smith and halfbacks Dave Roan and co-captain Charlie "Windy" Hansen. They're all triple threats, a point that Coach Semino has stressed.

Ken Griffin is a tackle, balancing John Donnelly in an average weighted line. Griffin and Donnelly play inside ends Billy Pratt and Bill Lynch and outside guards Joe Post and Julian Bibson. Dick Parquette holds down the starting center assignment.

That's how the team will line up Saturday with tackles Bob Reed and Ronald Fulton; guard Phil Bader, end Ken Biggs and backs Vic Gleniewicz and Gerry Welch ready to take over.

Saugus high fans are booming a post season game for the undefeated Sachems . . . they'd like to line up the winner of the Peabody-Salem contest for a play-off . . . if neither North Shore club will agree, Saugus will try to line up some other attractive tilt . . . and incidentally, Peabody will replace Wakefield as the Sachems' Thanksgiving Day rival after this season . . . The Tanners and Lynn English will replace Melrose and Newburyport on Coach Dave Lucey's schedule.

Somerville high came through its Melrose game without injury and now will be strengthened for its big Nov. 11 tilt with Malden . . . Roy Sodano, 185-pound 6 foot tackle, will become eligible for the Tornado clash . . . If Somerville whips Malden, they'll be shooting for a post season game, too . . . and don't be surprised if Bob Buckley, retired faculty manager, may be back at his usual post.
